1. We refer to our letter of 3 July 2009.
2. You have to date only taken limited steps to remove some defamatory material from your websites. Our client has therefore instructed us to take steps to issue legal proceedings. In the course of preparing proceedings, we have identified all defamatory statements on your websites, and have prepared a summary of those statements (at considerable time and expense).
3. Given that we have now prepared this summary, our client has asked us to provide you with a copy of the summary so that there can be no doubt as to which material our client requires you to remove. Our client is also prepared to give you one final opportunity to remove all such material before we file proceedings against you.
4. Our client requires you to remove all material identified in the enclosed schedule, and to post the retraction set out in our letter of 19 June 2009 on both of your blogs, by 5pm on Monday, 27 July 2009. Our client also requires that you confirm the same to us in writing, by signing and returning to us by facsimile (or by scanning and emailing) a copy of this letter.
5. In the absence of compliance, we are instructed to commence injunction proceedings against you in the Auckland High Court.
